

Abstract of the Disclosure

Disclosed is an improved method of creating an article from a multi-metallic sheet blank. Differing metallic sheet components are first separately fabricated, followed by joining of the differing metallic blanks into a contiguous whole using pulse welding, weldbrazing, laser welding, or the like. The multi-metallic blank is then formed, as a whole, to a final shape desired shape for incorporation into an article.